Subject: Consultation Under the National Historic Preservation Act Regarding the State of Florida's Request to Assume Administration of a CWA Section 404 Program

Dear Chairman Osceola:

On August 20, 2020, the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency, Region 4 received a request from the State of Florida to assume the administration of a Clean Water Act Section 404 program (CWA Section 404) for regulating discharges of dredged or fill material into waters of the United States. Pursuant to the CWA Section 404 and its implementing regulations (40 C.F.R. Part 233), the EPA is the federal agency charged with approving or denying Florida's request. The EPA has 120 days within which to complete this action (i.e., by December 17, 2020). The request does not seek program assumption over any discharges into waters located in Indian country.¹ The EPA would like to initiate consultation with the Seminole Tribe of Florida under Section 106 of the National Historic Preservation Act (NHPA) of 1966, as amended, on our Action on the State's request to assume a CWA Section 404 program.

The NHPA establishes historic preservation as a federal agency policy and provides for the identification and protection of historic properties. Section 106 of the NHPA requires federal agencies to take into account the effects of their actions (known as "Federal undertakings" in the statute and NHPA regulations) on historic properties that are listed or eligible for listing on the National Register of Historic Places and provide the Advisory Council on Historic Preservation (ACHP) a reasonable opportunity to comment with regard to such undertakings. The NHPA also provides important roles and consultation opportunities for Indian tribes in connection with federal undertakings that may affect historic properties of religious and cultural significance to tribes, even if located outside of Indian country. See NHPA Section 101(d)(6)(B); 36 C.F.R. § 800.2(c)(2)(ii).

“Federal undertaking” is defined in the ACHP’s implementing regulations (36 C.F.R. § 800.16(y)) to mean “a project, activity, or program funded in whole or part under the direct or indirect jurisdiction of a Federal agency, including those carried out by or on behalf of a federal agency; those carried out with Federal financial assistance; and those requiring a Federal permit, license or approval.” The federal agency must determine if its action is an undertaking, and, if so, whether the undertaking has the potential to cause effects to historic properties. See 36 C.F.R. § 800.3(a). Historic properties are defined in the NHPA regulations to mean prehistoric or historic districts, sites, buildings, structures, or objects that are included in, or are eligible for inclusion in, the National Register of Historic Places. See 36 C.F.R. § 800.16(l).

The approval of the State of Florida’s request to assume the CWA Section 404 program is a federal undertaking with the potential to cause effects to historic properties. In accordance with 36 C.F.R. § 800.3(f)(2), the EPA invites you or your designated consultation representative(s) to participate in the Section 106 consultation process prior to a final Agency action on Florida’s request.

The EPA will publish notice in the Federal Register of the proposed action for public comment in the near future. You are receiving this information before it is distributed to the public in order to invite your participation in the NHPA consultation process. The EPA is committed to government-to-government consultation with the Seminole Tribe of Florida on this federal undertaking, in accordance with the NHPA and its regulations. Your insights and knowledge would be helpful in this consultation effort. The Seminole Tribe of Florida will also have the opportunity to submit comments throughout the public comment period in addition to this opportunity for consultation.
